

Ever since Nicole Marquez was a little kid, she wanted to dance. Dancing and acting were her life. After graduating from the University of Southern Mississippi in 2008 she packed her bags and left the south for New York to pursue her Broadway dreams.

Then came the plot twist.

On August 30, 2008, she fell six stories down an air shaft. Eight hours later she was found and transported unconscious to the hospital. She was not expected to survive. When she did finally regain consciousness she was told she would likely never walk again. Nicole became determined to not only walk but to dance once more.

Join us at the 2018 AWCC Educational Conference to be inspired by Nicole's story; hear how her dreams of dance are very much alive today.
